

VivaAerobus, Mexico’s Ultra Low-Cost Carrier, COMING TO SAN ANTONIO

Ultra Low-cost carrier adds round-trip San Antonio-Monterrey service

AUGUST 15, 2011—San Antonio, TX— VivaAerobus, Mexico’s ultra-low cost carrier, announced it will begin round-trip service between San Antonio (SAT) and Monterrey (MTY), Mexico starting in November 2011. The new non-stop service to and from SAT and MTY will begin with three flights per week.

This marks VivaAerobus’ first entry into the San Antonio market, and its sixth market in the United States. Tickets will start at $79, full price, and are available now through their website, www.VivaAerobus.com.

“San Antonio plays a key role in VivaAerobus’ international growth plans,” said Juan Carlos Zuazua, CEO of VivaAerobus. “San Antonio is a new added market to our network. Connecting San Antonio to our biggest base, not only benefits Mexican travelers who regularly travel by road to San Antonio for leisure and business, the service will also benefit US nationals by offering a wide range of outstanding beach and leisure travel destinations. We are looking forward to bringing our low-cost travel option to San Antonio and Monterrey passengers.”

“San Antonio welcomes and celebrates VivaAerobus’ new air service to Monterrey, Mexico,” said Mayor Julian Castro. “The airline brings a low-fare option to our San Antonio passengers and our friends in Mexico. We greatly appreciate VivaAerobus’ selection of San Antonio and anticipate growth in our partnership.”

VivaAerobus, offering national and international air service, is Mexico's ultra low cost carrier. VivaAerobus started operations in November 2006 and currently operates a fleet of 15 Boeing 737-300 airplanes. The 148-seat aircraft offers comfort and quality capacity.
