

Susan Richardson is originally from central Illinois but moved to Houston, Texas during the early 1980s. A few years later, she moved here and then graduated in 1995 from University of Texas in San Antonio with a degree in Management Science. Susan went on to obtain her certification as a Texas Educator in 2003 and taught in Southside Independent School District for fifteen years before retiring last year. She currently attends graduate classes full-time in Public Administration at UTSA's downtown campus and is employed part-time with San Antonio ISD. Susan is also a twenty-year resident of District 1 and considers herself a lifelong learner with advocacy experience garnered from serving in various leadership positions within the local chapter of National Education Association/ Texas State Teachers Association while at Southside ISD. She now looks forward to advocating for renters, seniors, and students regarding affordability during her term on the San Antonio Housing Commission.
